

My choice and only my choice should be honored by the people I pay to run things for me.